Mera bhi tou hai.

Today we crossed another milestone in our family history, another coming of age. But this was the nearest and dearest one yet - my son. We spent the day together in my office and it was a trip down memory lane.

He explored my desktop, changed the photographs around, swiveled my chair, listened in on my calls and even ordered coffee! I bounced business ideas off him and took pride in the beginnings of his acumen. Out of sheer habit, I asked him to call 'my bank'. He turned to look at me quizzically, one eyebrow raised in genetic replication and said, 'But Abba, mera bhi tou hai.'

You see, that sense of belonging pervades the fabric of our family. And generation after generation we proudly lay claim to the Bank that is ours.

n a recent report, one of the most credible economic monitoring organization Bloomberg has lauded the Nawaz Sharif government for successfully turning the economy of Pakistan around. Report said that the civilian government faced challenges on the political and security front yet was able to improve income and decrease the budget deficit.

According to the report, the Pakistan Muslim League Nawaz (PML-N) government took charge of the country in highly unfavorable situation as energy, balance of payments and economic crises were faced by the country yet it has been able to put the country on the path of economic progress. Report says that reduction in the oil prices, increase in foreign remittances and expansion in consumer spending led to the economic turnaround. Corporate income has increase while stock exchange has also touched new heights, according to the report. However, the report suggests strong tax reforms for sustainable growth in future.

Pakistan Day 23rd March, 2015

Message from Mr. Mamnoon Hussain

President of Islamic Republic of Pakistan

he 23rd of March marks the momentous occasion when Muslims of India resolved to struggle for an independent state based on principles of equality and justice. It was on this day, 75 years ago, that great thinkers and political leaders came together to embark upon the journey for independence. Quaid-e-Azam realized that it was the right of every Muslim of South Asia to enjoy freedom, equality and social justice. Millions of people sacrificed their lives to realize the dream of Pakistan.

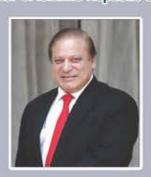

To mark this historic occasion, I would like to urge all citizens of Pakistan to renew their resolve to bring their country to the forefront of the comity of nations. We are confronted with formidable threats and challenges. Women and children, civilians and soldiers alike, have been targeted by terrorists and extremists. Our schools and our placed of worship have been attacked. This day brings us together to remind us of the great struggle and commitment that accomplished the state of Pakistan. Today Pakistan needs the same efforts and commitment from its citizens to unite against evil forces. We must forget our differences and reclaim our country. A country where there is harmony and tolerance, education and prosperity, and people can live in peace and continue to strive towards success.

May All Almighty bless us in our efforts to preserve and protect our citizens and our homeland.

PAKSITAN ZINDABAD

Message from Mr. Mian Muhammad Nawaz Sharif Prime Minister of Islamic Republic of Pakistan

hree quarters of a century have elapsed since the Muslims of subcontinent irreversibly resolved to seek their own independent Muslim state. Their revered Quaid declared that Muslims of South Asia were an independent nation by any definition. He led them to wage a struggle for a state based on principles of social justice, selfdetermination and equality. The independence struggle witnessed countless vicissitudes but the Quaid never flinched from his avowed objective. The firm commitment of the Quaid wholeheartedly backed by the Muslim nation ultimately succeeded in carving out an independent homeland. The Quaid bequeathed to his people the Promised Land with the exhortation to preserve and protect it for future generations. Three quarters of a century later Quaid's Pakistan is groping to overcome unprecedented threats and challenges. The peace loving people of Pakistan are unwittingly exposed to threats posed by extremism and terrorism. Pakistan has been subjected to an existential threat that it has no option but to confront. The antistate elements threatening Pakistan are out to threaten not only the lives but also the very fabric of Pakistani nation. But the Pakistanis have irrevocably stood up to the challenge and have resolved never to give in. Pakistan is resolved to redeem its pledge given to its founding fathers that it will protect the homeland. We are also committed to preserve and ensure freedom, equality and social justice as core values of our polity as desired by our enlightened forbears.

I am a steadfast believer in permanence of morality based representative plurality emisaged representative plurality envisaged by the Quaid. I greatly value the equality principle and consider it vital for national preservation. I am a formidable opponent of anachronistic notions of obscurantism and consider it harmful to our national existence. I am confident that with the valued assistance of our valiant armed forces, unconditionally supported by the entire array of political opinion, we will surely overpower threatening forces. I am confident that Pakistan has turned a new leaf in its existence and will soon be able to overcome all odds. My government has embarked upon a vast portfolio of institutional and development ventures that will bear fruit in near future. I wish to reiterate my resolve to the nation that under my watch no effort will be spared to bring tolerance and harmony in Pakistan, I am committed to ensure that Pakistanis are provided with every opportunity to live freely, seek education, gain

By Sajid Takar

fter seven months of tension between India and Pakistan, their foreign secretaries met in the first week of March for talks in Pakistan's capital, Islamabad. Both the foreign secretaries have termed and described the talks as productive.

Indian Foreign Secretary Subrahmanyam Jaishankar, after the meeting, told media that he and Pakistan's Foreign Secretary, Aizaz Ahmed Chaudhry had agreed to work together to find common ground and narrow their differences.

Aizaz Chaudhry, in a press briefing, described "a cordial and constructive atmosphere" at their meeting at the foreign ministry.

Aizaz said that both sides recognized that the two countries needed to work together to address mutual concerns and make efforts to promote peace and development.

Jaishankar officially was traveling to discuss issues related to the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation, on a tour taking him to the capitals of other member nations, including Bhutan, Bangladesh and Afghanistan.

His trip to Pakistan's capital raised hopes that the two neighboring countries would be able to pick up threads of a frayed dialogue.

During the meeting, Indian Foreign Affairs Secretary Subrahmanyam Jaishankar and Pakistani Foreign Secretary Aizaz Ahmad Chaudhry discussed contentious issues including Jammu and Kashmir, Siachen, Sir Creek and other bilateral issues. The matter of restoration of peace dialogues between the two countries was also discussed during the meeting. They discussed ways to resume the dialogue process between the two countries to move forward for resolution of outstanding issues. Indian Foreign Secretary Subramanium Jaishankar also said that Pakistan and India have agreed to work together, find common ground and narrow differences. Meanwhile Pakistani Foreign Secretary Aizaz Ahmed Chaudhry has said that the tension at line of control and working boundary is lasting negative impacts on the relations of two counties, adding that there is need to move forward while decreasing this tension.

The level talks were held at Pakistani Foreign Office where Aizaz Chaudhry headed the Pakistani delegation in dialogues while Subrahmanyam Jaishankar headed Indian delegation.

Talking to newsmen after talks with Pakistan Foreign Secretary Aizaz Ahmad Chaudhary, Jaishankar said that they discussed the ideas and initiatives to take SAARC forward. He said Pakistan would be the next SAARC chair, adding that India would like to work with Pakistan to help SAARC achieve its potentia.

Jaishankar further said that naturally his visit provided an opportunity to discuss their bilateral relations. He said that they engaged in each others concerns and interest in an open manner. Jaishankar also said that they had agreed that ensuring peace and tranquility on the border was vital. He said his country wanted to forge

The Canadian theme for this year's International Women's Day 2015 is: Strong Women, Strong World: Improving Economic Opportunities for All. The pictures are depictions of ordinary and extraordinary women, showing strong women who are working to generate economic and social benefits for themselves and their families. In the exhibition, High Commissioner Cruden remarked:

"Many women are able to succeed despite the odds, but we must also recognize the great obstacles that women face in their homes, in their workplaces and in their communities. More must be done to achieve gender equality at all levels. Together, we must do more to ensure that every girl and young woman completes their education so they may go on to participate fully in social and economic life.

"We must support girls by encouraging them, by being role models, by ensuring By Mugarab Hussain / Raheel Igbal that they are equipped with the knowledge and power to make healthy decisions. They should have education and awareness, access to health and nutrition services and their right to choose when, or if, they marry must be ensured.

"We can further improve gender equality through the expansion of educational and skills training opportunities, access to paid work, changes to local laws, and overcoming gender stereotypes."

Last year, Canada made a renewed commitment of $3.5 billion in support of international efforts to end the preventable deaths of mothers, newborns and children younger than age five.

Dialogue key to rebuilding peace in communities:

Danish Ambassador

By M. Saeed Yousafzai

anish Ambassador to Islamabad H.E. Mr. Jesper Moller Sorenson has said that dialogue is vital for promoting peace as it narrows differences.

Speaking at National Peace Summit he said that they must learn to speak each other. He said that dialogue was the key to building and promoting peace and added that they must learn to speak to each other. Most importantly, we must learn to listen and respect differences of opinion, he said. The ambassador also said that whatever we disagree on; let us at least agree that we don't use violence, but that we deal with differences through dialogue and understanding.

The National Peace Summit, which was organized by Search for Common Ground (SFCG) Pakistan with support from Danish International Development Agency (DANIDA) brought diverse groups and communities together from across all provinces. The aim was to find a collective vision of peace with a particular focus on enabling provinces and their communities to engage constructively around conflict issues in the post-18th Amendment Framework. Speaking as the Chief Guest, Ambassador Jesper Moller Sorensen acknowledged the important work done by peace builders, who work their way through the most difficult levels within their community by adopting an open, interactive and solution-oriented approach for dialogue. "By seeing and teaching the common ground between one's own group and another group of people, we can build empathy and tolerance. This is the kind of thinking that leads towards depolarizing, building bridges and eventually peace," said Ambassador Sorensen. "Pakistan has become a polarised society where tolerance and respect for diversity is much needed," she said.

Vice President PPP and Former Pakistan Ambassador to USA Sherry Rehman participated as the guest of honor. She highlighted that the main building block of peace is the provision and sustenance of security. She encouraged creating and promoting public conversation as inclusive citizenship was at heart of a democratic society. She appreciated the Pakistan Peace Initiative as it represented a democratic model in which public engagement has developed solutions for peace, which includes all provincial perspectives. She encouraged the public to petition their government and parliamentarians, as the public voice was the cornerstone of any democratic society

Around 150 participants representing diverse groups such as media, youth, minorities, women, religious leaders, politicians, traders, civil society and government officials sat together and discussed topics related to peace, conflict and public governance in view of the 18th amendment. Participants spoke openly on issues such as devolution of power, social justice, local and provincial level conflicts and how peace can be maintained viewing Pakistan's constitution as a tool for conflict transformation while engaging communities for grassroots action for peace building.

Addressing the audience, Executive Director SFCG Pakistan Khurram Masood said that the SFCG believes that at the macro level demand for public dialogue can be generated leading to increased constructive voices of citizens including youth, women and media in particular. He said that SFCG hopes that generation of platforms and healthy dialogue will enable Pakistani population to take an active part in motivating the masses for causing shifts in perspectives and approaches for collaborative actions. "SFCG places a premium on Pakistan's growing youth bulge, women leaders, dynamic media and private sector entrepreneurs to become the change agents that Pakistan needs," said Mr. Masood.

During the Summit, recommendations of the provincial perspectives of peace were presented in light of 18th constitutional amendment retrieved from a series of provincial level consultative dialogues held in Lahore, Peshawar, Quetta and Karachi between May 2014 and February 2015. The final outcome and recommendations of all provincial dialogues and the National Summit will be disseminated and shared with Government of Pakistan compiled into a policy paper "Pakistan Vision of Peace". At the end of the Summit, awards were given to two inspiring youth peace activists for their efforts to promote peace in their communities. The awards were given to Nooroz Ghani from Liyari and Faroog Afridi from Khyber Agency, FATA.

Interview with

H.E. Mr. Muhammad Masud Khan,

Honorary council General of Lithonia in Pakistan

By Mian Fazal Elahi

general council. Since then I am running the responsibility in Pakistan.

Q. What was the background behind that? Are you doing the business with that country or just they selected you as a businessman in Pakistan or as politician, a social person or a civil society person?

A: The background of my appointment is that I was living in Scandinavia and I was in aviation business and after their independence I was one of first person probably the Pakistani early in 1990s. in the world of development of their airlines as a their advisor to government of Lithonia for couple of years and one day foreign minister offer me to become their honorary council for Denmark and I said No, if I have to become an Honorary council then I like to go back home to be honorary council in Pakistan. And this is how this whole process developed and then I moved to Pakistan from Denmark.

Q. Which year was that when you were working with Scandinavian?

Answer: It was early 1990s. From 1992 to 1996.

Q. After the separation from Soviet Union, Lithonia become a member of European Union and Schangan states. I need to know in very short period they get a lot of success.

A: I hope and I wish that you should visit Lithonia one day in near future. Lithonia is the first country to announce the Independence and it was actually when you came two days back. It was exactly on 11th March, 1990. And this small parliament of 130 people decided that we will go back to our independent Nation as were 1945. They stood in front or Soviet Union tanks and then President of Soviet Union at that time realized that we should have to accept their impendence. So as a matter of fact fourteen countries got independence after Lithonia. They followed Lithonia. All the central Asian got

Lithonia's export is more than 50 billion dollars and their population is only 3 million people independence after Lithonia. Lithonia was the first nation to announce the independence in 1990 and it was very poor country. The average wage of their workers was 30$ a month. Today the average is 2000 Euro. So you see how they have done this journey from 1992 to 2015.

Q. Give me a short brief on their economy and trade?

A: Actually you know I told some journalist and they were surprised that Lithonia's export is more than 50 billion dollars and their population is only 3 million people. This is double than what Pakistan is exporting. The reason for that is they are highly educated in Europe and they have highest number of scientist in the Europe. Lithonia's per capita has the highest number of graduates. They were brain of Soviet that is why they don't want to be lead by Soviet Union. Lithonia is very advance country in bio technology, laser technology and pharmaceutical. Apart from that they have also agro and forestry, life stalk, meet processing and milk production.

We are member of NATO, European Union, and non-permanent member of Security Council. Now we are most educated nation of the Europe. I am telling you the facts of European Union economic forum.

Q. What kind trade their government has with Pakistan?

A: While with Pakistan, we do not have really very big trade. But it is started now we have supplied IPP Meters to Pakistani different solar energy companies. We have thirty to forty pilots of PIA under training at Lithonia. We have about sixty to seventy students studying in Lithonia in medicine and other engineering faculties, but we have some trade in textile. Our trade is very small about 50 million $ between the two countries. The reason is Logistics for time being is too far. But what I am trying to do is that we should try to get know of Lithonia. You have Higher Education Commission for exchange program of PHD and other education level. People are going for Marine Engineering because here in Pakistan you do not have such good Marine Engineering. Neighbor countries have developed almost forty Institutes with the help of Lithonia on Biotechnology. I believe that to export little cotton and textile and that is not important for a country like Lithonia. We should buy Knowledge. We should go for cooperation in scientific knowledge.

Q. What is opportunity for Pakistani businessmen? Which kind of business and trade they can establish in Lithonia and can export over there?

A: I think when you talk of export to Lithonia; you should forget about that they are only 3 million people. Whenever I went to businessmen, chambers and in federation, I said try to go and see what you jointly can do for Europe. You can establish Industry and joint venture with Europe and take the market of Europe not only Lithonia. This is what other Asian countries are doing now. Pakistan is very good at textile. I think the joint venture will be name of the game, their knowledge, and our knowledge couple together and take the market of whole Europe.

Q, what about the Education? Pakistan has a large number of students studying abroad. How many Pakistani students are studying at Lithonia and Lithonia Government has any MOUs signed with Pakistani Government for exchange of students?

A: This is very good question. I think Lithonia is best place where students get maximum knowledge. When I went to Lithonia first time I was shocked that Lithuanians University was the oldest university of Europe 474 years old and they have all faculties. We went to cannas another street my wife was accompanying me. She being a Dr. we counter a medical institute. Many students are studying at Lithonia. Most of these students are from Gulf Countries, Dubai, Abu Dhabi, most of them were female. The Lithonia has very high standard of education. Now Lithonia is gradually growing on textile and its GDP is increasing day by day. The other European countries production rate is very low that is why people are moving towards other European country. A lot of countries have converted their medium of teaching in English. Pakistan is one of those countries; Pakistani parents are best parents in the world, who use to send their children abroad for education. Pakistani parents spend 4 billion dollars a year. Pakistani students are more concerned about education and they are going everywhere for study. This is really admirable that Pakistani parents are ready to sacrifice for the education for their kids. We are working with Higher Education Commission. We are talking to science Foundation, biotechnology foundation for signing MOUs on these sides. I like students to go abroad for study for post graduate and PHD level. You will be amazed when you see that every 3rd employ of the Foreign Office of Lithonia is PHD.

Q. Does Pakistan and Lithonia have any MOUs regarding Tourism?

Answer: Lithonia is very attractive country for tourism. I can give you a lot of books to see. Lithonia is very far from Pakistan and we do not have any direct route to Lithonia and there is an advisory in European Countries that not to travel to Pakistan. There are a lot of reasons. But we are working on that. Both countries are interested to link with each other. Lithonia is very beautiful country. Pakistan is also very natural and beautiful country.

Q. I need to know in future, you have any plan to arrange any high level visit to Lithonia?

Answer: you are very bright and intelligent journalist. I tell you that it is consideration on two levels, one on high level and another on ministerial level and I myself is trying for business and journalist level. I hope in next six months we will have any visit.

Q. Are there any MOUs under Pipe line between the two countries?

Answer: we have three MOUs with government of Punjab Pakistan, already which is based on life stalk, forestry and meet processing.

Q. I need to know about the system of government in Lithonia.

Answer: It is a parliamentary system. The parliament called Siemen. There are 130 members in the house. There is only one house. The house elects the Prime Minister. President is directly elected by people and day to day administration is done by cabinet and ministers. But the overall power is with president because president is directly elected by public. There is a full democratic system in the country.

Q. Give me a short brief about your personal life.

Answer: I am basically engineer by profession. I worked for Pakistan Railway before left the country in 1970s. I lived many years in Scandinavia and I worked there as engineer and then started my own business in aviation. I had offices in Denmark, Sweden, Finland and Norway. Allhamdolillah with Allah's blessing I had the leading business at that time in aviation site at Lithonia. I helped Baltic countries in developing their airlines. One day foreign minister offered me to become their honorary council for Denmark and I said No, if I have to become an Honorary council then I like to go back home to be honorary council in Pakistan. I also served as advisor to tourism ministry. I'm also vice chairman of Overseas Pakistanis Foundation. I also served as chairman of Pacific Asian Travel Association (PATA). I kept my link with

Q. When you get married?

Answer: We get married in 1979. And journey of life since 1979 is very happy. We have two very beautiful boys and two girls who are married now. We had very good time and we have very good understanding with each other.

Q. Is there any fighting between you and your husband? (Question to his wife)

A. No, no he is wonderful husband. I think I have never dreamed about. I have no complaint with him since our marriage. I bother to go abroad before marriage but after marriage like to abroad with my husband and after one year of our marriage we went abroad.

Thanks a lot both of you for giving me time and for such nice interview.

Senate Election:

Rabbani's unopposed election as Chairman Senate; great sign of political wisdom of PM Nawaz

By Sajid Takar

Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) leader and senior parliamentarian Main Raza Rabbani has been elected as Chairman Senate unopposed which most of the analysts consider as a very good omen for the future of politics in Pakistan.

Although, the senate election were held in a very good atmosphere and the process completed in a smooth manner however, the story in the Khyber Pukhtunkhwa was different where not only unpleasant incidents took place where the parties in the provincial assembly and those in opposition leveled allegations against each other for rigging and some other mismanagement but also the process took more five hours than the usual to complete. And almost all the parties accepted the results despite of the rumors of horse trading in the election.

One thing which was also harshly criticized by every party in the opposition was the delay of the election on seats from FATA as result of the presidential order just on the night of the election.

However, the good things, after the election, started happening when Prime Minister Nawaz Sharif, showing a great political vision, not only supported Raza Rabbani, the candidate for the seat of senate chairman, but also announced that his party will not put his candidate for the seat. And thus consensus candidate Mian Raza Rabbani has been elected unopposed as the Chairman of Senate. No other candidate filed nomination papers for the slot.

Mian Raza Rabbani who belongs to Pakistan People's Party was nominated unanimously by the government and the opposition for the office.

Mian Raza Rabbani has been in active politics since long and has served as the leader of the House in the Senate during PPP tenure. He also served as Federal Minister for Law. He was also chairman of the committee which drafted the 18th and 19th amendment in the constitution.

While Abdul Ghafur Haideri from Jamiat Ulema-e-Islam (Fazl) JUI-F elected as Deputy Chairman Senate. Four candidates i.e. Abdul Ghafoor Haideri of JUI-F, Shibli Faraz of PTI, Jahanzeb Jamaldini of BNP (Mengal) and Nighat Mirza of Muttahida Qaumi Movement had filed their nomination papers for the election of Deputy Chairman Senate.

However, the three candidates except Shibli Faraz, the son of renowned poet Ahmed Faraz, withdrawn their nomination papers. Despite the continuous contacts and efforts of the Jamat-e-Islami Amir Sirajul Haq, Shibli did not withdraw his papers. The efforts, to elect Abdul Ghafur Haideri were aimed so that the election process should be completed in a more unanimous was as on the slot for the chairman. However, it was the constitutional right of the PTI to bring on their candidate. About ninety six senators voted out of which Shibli got only 16 votes while Haideri got 74 and thus elected as Deputy Chairman Senate.

Abdul Ghafur Haideri belongs to Baluchistan and a scholar and seasoned politicians.

After completion of the process, Senator Ishaq Dar, who was nominated by the President as presiding officer, administered the oath.

After taking the oath the newly elected members signed the Roll of Members.

Mian Raza Rabbani Chairman Senate

Molana Abdul Ghafoor Haideri Deputy Chairman Senate

Prime Minister Muhammad Nawaz Sharif receiving Mr. Raza Rabbani at a lunch hosted by him at the PM House, Islamabad.

Prime Minister Muhammad Nawaz Sharif addressing leaders of political parties at the PM House, Islamabad.

Ishaq Dar congratulated the newly elected members and expressed the hope that they will play their due role during their tenure as Senators.

The newly elected Senators, while talking to media, vowed to work together for strengthening parliamentary and democratic norms in the country.

They said Pakistan is faced with multiple challenges and government and the opposition will have to work with cohesion to steer the country out of all challenges.

enator Mian Raza Rabbani is a Pakistani nationalist-left-wing politician and a constitutional lawyer who has been elected as the Chairman of Senate of Pakistan. He is the second in the line of succession to the President of Pakistan.

He served as the chairman of the Senate standing committee on National Security and Constitutional reforms, between 2008 till 2013 and was responsible for the drafting of Amendment XVIII which turned Pakistan from a semipresidential to a parliamentary republic. He has been elected a senator for six times since 1993 from the Sindh Province. He was a close aide to Benazir Bhutto who had appointed him the party's deputy secretary general in 1997 and leader of the opposition in the Senate in 2005.

Prior to his work in constitutional politics, he is also a leading nationalist—left-wing figure and has extensively written on topics in socialism and left-wing ideas. His credential led to his nomination to the presidency by the Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP).

Raza Rabbani was born in Sargodha, Punjab Province of Pakistan on 23 July 1953. He is from a well known Arain Mian Family of Faisalabad. His family moved to Karachi where Rabbani attended the Habib Public School in Karachi, Sindh Province of Pakistan, After graduating from Habib Public School, Rabbani admitted at the Karachi University to study law and liberal arts in 1976. During his collegiate years, Rabbani was politically active, first playing pioneering role in establishing the National Organization of the Progressive

Students and later held the chairmanship of Peoples Students Federation (PSF). The PSF is a student union body directly linking to Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) founded in the 1970s to promote student politics in the country.

In 1988, Rabbani earned BA (Hons) in Economics and a LLB degree in civil law from the Karachi University.

His father, Group Captain (Rtd) Ata Rabbani served as the first ADC (aide de camp) to Pakistan's founder Muhammad Ali Jinnah.

Rabbani was expelled from the Karachi University by the behest of military government of President General Zia-ul-Haq in 1981. of the parliamentary committee on national security and constitutional reforms; his major constitutional contributions includes his work on the 18th amendment, of which he strongly lobbied for the amendment to be part of the constitution, and later helped reformed and reevaluate the foreign-domestic policies of the government.

In 1993, he again contested for the general elections held in 1993, and later proceeded his career in the Senate. He served as the chairman of the Senate Standing Committee on Sports and Culture until 1994 when he was appointed Minister of Law and Justice by Prime Minister Benazir Bhutto. As Law minister, he played a crucial role in drafting the fifteenth amendment to the Constitution, which was aimed to reserved seats for women in the National and the provincial assemblies. Due to political pressure exerted by the conservative circles, the bill was withdrawn from the parliament. His tenure was abruptly ended when PPP's own elected President Farooq Leghari dismissed Prime Minister Benazir Bhutto in 1996 and called for new elections in

After the general elections in 1997, Rabbani joined the parliamentary opposition session led by Benazir Bhutto; ultimately becoming the deputy leader of the opposition. From 1996-99, he served as an important member of Senate Committee on Information and Mass-media Broadcasting and the Senate Committee on Foreign and Geostrategic Affairs. During this time, he campaigned and lobbied against the passing of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendment to the Constitution; eventually writing to President Rafig Tarar to vetoed the bill.

In 2005–08, he led the opposition session as the leader of opposition in the Senate, and was earned public notice for his fierce opposition against President Pervez Musharraf. Often speaking at the country's news channels, Rabbani harshly criticised the LFO, 2002, noting that "Musharraf's insistence that the LFO is a part of the Constitution was unconstitutional in itself. From 2008 until 2009, he led the PPP session as the leader of house in the Senate. For a shortly brief time in 2010, he has also served as Advisor to the Prime Minister on Inter-Provincial Coordination until resigning in 2011.

Despite his disagreements with PPP's leadership, Senator Minister Yousaf Raza Gillani who would later entangled with the Supreme Court over the missing persons scandal. In 2003, Rabbani demonstrated his opposition against the Iraq war in 2003, over the issue of its nuclear program.

About the atomic proliferation issues, Rabbani criticised President Pervez Musharraf in the news channels and publicly supported the case of Dr. AQ Khan against President that has gone with this resolution will definitely ring alarm bells, vis-à-vis their policy of bulldozing Pakistan."

In April 2011, Rabbani also heavily criticised US over their drone operation in North-Western Pakistan in the Parliament, commenting that United States is following a major violations of international law and human rights.

Rabbani extensively writes in support of socialism, communism, constitutional justice, and left-wing ideas. In 2003, he authored a book, "LFO: A Fraud on the Constitution", in a direct opposition to President Pervez Musharraf and a scheme of legitimising his rule.

In response to insurgency situation in the country, Rabbani reputedly declared that "Politico-religious parties and right-wing political groups are conniving with the establishment to damage and weaken left-wing parties." His statement came during the 2013 general elections, in which, left-wing parties were under immense pressure from the right-wing insurgent groups to limit their political campaigns. Rabbani later accused the international community for supporting the conservative parties in an opposition against the leftist parties. While accusing former president Prevez Musharraf for supporting the ultraconservative alliance to curbed the left-wing parties, Rabbani, with another Marxist Taj Haider, accused the West and the United States of supporting the right wing parties for their bid in the elections.

He is also the author of some remarkable books.

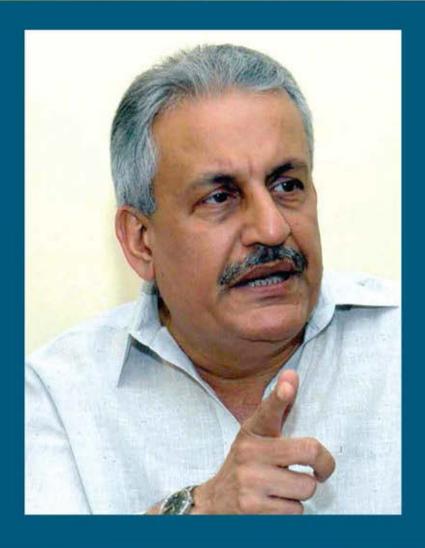

Rabbani was named by the President to be the Chairperson of the Parliamentary Committee on National Security and the Chairperson of the Parliamentary Committee on Constitutional Reform in 2008.

His services and credentials led to his simultaneous appointment to the chairmanship of the Beginning of the Rights of Balochistan where he worked on presenting a package to redress the problems of the Balochistan Province to the joint sessions of the Parliament. Despite his recommendations, none of the provisions in the packages would be carried out by Prime Musharraf. While calling for moral responsibility of nuclear weapons and security, he reportedly marked his words over this issue as the "propaganda against Pakistan" in the Western Media about terrorism and nuclear weapons, raises legitimate apprehensions in the minds of Pakistanis."

During the heights of the United States-Pakistan border confrontations, Rabbani declared to the media about the shift-changing policy of Pakistan as United States' ally and quoted: "We need to prioritize our own national-security interests. As far as the U.S. is concerned, the message

FPCCI Chairman urges govt to reduce duty to tackle smuggling issue

By Bilal Zafar

hairman FPCCI standing committee on anti-smuggling Nasir Hameed has said that the government must give relief to the small traders by reducing customs duty and tax rate in order to cultivate habit of paying tax among the traders.

He urged the government to reduce customs duty by 5 percent on the goods which were being smuggled in the local market to tackle the menace of smuggling.

H added that reduction in tax and duties will motivate the traders to pay their taxes and duties.

While suggesting fix tax scheme he asked the government to bring the traders into tax net and the traders should be allowed to pay a fix amount of tax so the FBR officials could be satisfied in this regard.

Bureaucratic hurdles behind decline in exports: FPCCI

Federation of Pakistan Chambers of Commerce and Industry (FPCCI) expressed concern over continuous declining trend in exports of the country particularly of textile products. President FPCCI Muhammad Adrees Indicated it was not the failure of business but it was the failure of administrative measures and bureaucratic hurdles in smooth functioning of economy. Textile sector of country is confronting with longstanding issue for last few years, which resulted in less exports of the textile sector despite Pakistan received Generalised System of Preferences plus status from European Union. He said business community was endeavour to enhance country's exports by $1 billion annually but various issues such as stuck up refunds, power and gas shortages faced by exported-oriented industries, including textiles, if not resolved would not increase exports. Exporting sector in general and textile sector in particular are badly facing hardship because of their mounting refunds in Federal Board of Revenue. Those refunds have created severe liquidity problems and consequently they are forced to arrange working capital through expensive sources, which ultimately hurt competitiveness in international market and ability to export at right time.

Lessons from OreC

H.E. Dr. Song Jong-hwan,

Ambassador of the Republic of Korea

t has been 1 year and 8 months since I came to Pakistan as the Ambassador of the Republic of Korea. During this time, the most frequently asked question of my Pakistani friends has been, "How did Korea develop so amazingly in such a short

In 1960, Korea's per capita income was $79 which was lower than the average income of the Least Developed Countries and Korea had only $20 million foreign exchange reserves. By the end of 2013, Korea's per capita income was $25,977 and its foreign exchange reserves were more than $345.6 billion, the 8th largest reserves in the world.

There are many reasons for Korea's speedy development. The two most important reasons were Korea's visionary leader, President Park Chung-hee, who created a strong momentum and secondly, the Korean nation's unity and efforts with their sacrifices.

A Korean newspaper, The Dong-A Ilbo, published an interview with Dr. Baek

Yeong-hoon, translator of the Korean Government's loan delegation to West Germany, on 10th April 2013, about how President Park got a $30 million commercial loan in 1961 from West Germany. This loan was required very urgently for implementing the first Economic Development 5 Year Plan (1962-

After the Korean Delegation's visit to West Germany in December 1961, Korean miners and nurses started working in Germany from 1963. Even though their working conditions were very difficult and intense, they provided parts of their income as security for a German commercial loan to the Korean Government.

President Park visited West Germany in December 1964. During his stay in West Germany, he visited the Ruhr mines along with Karl Heinrich Lübke, the president of Germany, and addressed the Korean miners and nurses. During his speech to these hard working Koreans, President

Park cried while he promised, "We must not pass this poverty to the next generation". This is a really good lesson for Pakistan too, if it wants to learn Korea's Economic Development.

President Park learnt many lessons during his visit to West Germany in 1964 which would change the history of Korea. Particularly, he understood that he should not rely only on foreign aid for the progress of his country. Secondly, he learnt how to make an economic development order for the economic stability in a country. His economic development order started with the construction of highways, followed by the making of automobiles, steel mills and oil refineries.

Today, thanks to the visionary leadership of President Park and the national unity, determination, dedication and sacrifices of the Korean people, the Republic of Korea has witnessed the miracle of the Han River. Since 2012, Korea's trade volume with the world has been more than $1.1 trillion, and it is the 7th largest merchandise exporter and 9th largest merchandise importer in the world. Korea's GDP is over $1.3 trillion, which is the 14th largest GDP in the world. Korean companies like Samsung, LG, Hyundai, Lotte and Daewoo are household names all over the world and Korea is a global power in industries like shipbuilding, semi-conductors, LCDs, communication technology, power generation, electronics and nuclear technology.

I wish to see the Miracle of the Indus River here in Pakistan as I witnessed and experienced the Miracles of the Rhine River in Germany and the Han River in Korea. And with that desire and hope, I have always made efforts to strengthen the relations between our two countries as an Ambassador of the Republic of Korea to Pakistan.
